Current research

My research focuses on how to conduct and improve clinical research methodology in general, and within adult psychiatry and clinical psychology in particular.

PhD project

The PhD project is a randomized clinical trial (RCT) in a collaboration with Stolpegaard Psychotherapy Centre, Mental Health Services, Capital Region of Denmark, Department of Psychology, University of Copenhagen, and Copenhagen Trial Unit, Rigshospitalet

The project is titled "Short-term versus long-term outpatient mentalization-based treatment of borderline personality disorder: a randomized clinical trial".

2018	PhD Fellow,
2017	Psychologist, Stolpegaard Psychotherapy Centre, Mental Health Services, Capital Region of Denmark
